Notice Concerning Acquisition of Business and Real Estate by Consolidated Subsidiary

SANKO GOSEI LTD. (the “Company”) hereby announces that its consolidated subsidiary, Sanko Gosei Technologies USA, Inc., entered into agreements on October 21, 2026 (local time) to acquire the business and related real estate of Cumberland Plastic Systems, LLC, which operates a manufacturing base in Opelika, Alabama, U.S.A. and manufactures and sells precision plastic injection-molded products, including automotive components, as described below.

Details

1. Purpose of the Business Acquisition

The Company Group’s core business is the manufacture and sale of plastic molded products and related molds for automotive components, information and communications equipment, home appliances, and other applications. In North America, the Group operates manufacturing bases in Indiana, U.S.A. through its consolidated subsidiary, Sanko Gosei Technologies USA, Inc., and in Mexico.

In the U.S. automotive industry, demand for localized procurement of automotive components is increasing against the backdrop of trade policy and other factors, while demand trends surrounding electrification continue to change. Demand for components, including those for hybrid vehicles, is expected to expand. Although the Company has been expanding its existing Indiana plant, it has also been considering the establishment or acquisition of a manufacturing base in the southern United States to accommodate future growth in orders and strengthen access to the automotive supply chain in the southern region.

Cumberland Plastic Systems, LLC has an established customer base not only in the automotive industry but also in non-automotive sectors, including the power-tool industry. Through this acquisition, the Group will obtain a new manufacturing base and customer base in the southern region and will be able to strengthen the Group’s overall production capacity and supply structure through mutual complementation with its existing Indiana base.

Through this transaction, the Company will further expand its North American business platform and continue to pursue opportunities for further overseas business development.
